THANK YOU for taking the time to review this Membership Information packet.

I have been where you are. In 1989, serving as the director of a mission organization, I sought out membership in the Association of North American Missions. The benefits from the training provided by the association, the interaction with other mission leaders, and the accountability review greatly enhanced my leadership skills. When ANAM was looking for a director in 2006, I realized that I wanted to share the benefits that I had gained with others because I believe in ANAM!

Consider these Core Values of ANAM as you review this information.

ANAM will be a peer-driven identity relationship in which members are

- ACCOUNTABLE to God and each other
- CONNECTED to those who understand and encourage our ministry life
- GROWING through resources and relationships, and
- STRETCHED to consider new opportunities.

Accountable, connected, growing, and stretched - if you seek any of those, please consider becoming part of the Association of North American Missions.

As you review the information in this packet, you will see that we have 3 different relationships for organizations to consider - Accredited Member, ANAM Associate, and ANAM Affiliate. Each of these will provide benefit to you as the director and to your organization.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or need additional information.

Doug Clark
Executive Director
